

Be Smart with your Electives

(non-business and non-economics options)

As a business major you are required to take 48-54 credits of non-business/non-economics electives. University core, math, stats, and some economics classes count in this category, but the average student still needs about 10-12 credits of non-business/non-economics coursework. If you are Management or Marketing student you also get to take advisor approved electives (AAE), which can be non-business classes. Yes, the two categories can double count!

These requirements are part of your Jabs business degree because we want you to be well-rounded, thoughtful global citizens. We encourage you to use these electives to feed your passions, identify new interests, explore new disciplines, take risks, tailor your degree to YOU, and make YOUR degree even more valuable. This guide is not an exhaustive list of MSU courses (not even close!), but it's designed to get you thinking about all the amazing courses available to you at MSU.

OR CONSIDER ADDING A NON-BUSINESS MINOR:

Agricultural Business †
China Studies
Economics †
Financial Engineering
French & Francophone Studies
German Studies
Global Studies
Hispanic Studies
Japan Studies
Latin American & Latino Studies
Mathematics
Photography
Political Science
Psychology
Sociology
Statistics
Water Resources
Writing

For example:

Agricultural Business requires ECNS 101IS, ECNS 202 & ECNS 204IS (or ECNS 251IS), ACTG 201, & STAT 216Q which are also required for a business degree. You would only need to take AGBE 321, AGBE 345 and six upper-level AGBE/ECNS elective credits.

For example:

A writing minor requires any seven courses from a list that includes Intro to Creative Writing, Intermediate Tech Writing, News & Public Relations Writing, Magazine Editing, and Professional Writing. These skills are valuable for Communications, Blogging, Advertising, Publications, and Annual Reports.

“ Minors do matter and could well help to shape the future path a career will take or even open some possibilities for careers one might hope for. ”

Nancy Monti, a human resources professional with Extendicare Health Services.

† Minors in Ag Bus, Econ & some Fin Eng classes WILL NOT count for non-bus/non-econ. Please consult with the Office of Student Services.
